

Epidemic Disease

Nurse: Good morning, how may I help you?

Jun: Good morning, I would like to have my health checked. I have got a high fever since last night.

Nurse: I see. Then you need to fill in this form. After that, please use this thermometer to measure your temperature.

Jun: Thank you! I will get back to you soon.

10 mins later

Jun: Excuse me! Here you are. It says 37.5 degree. Well, it is a little higher than this morning when I checked actually.

Nurse: I got it. I will record it. And are you short of breath sometimes?

Jun: Well, no.... I think. But I have coughed a lot for a few days.

Nurse: Let's see...I am afraid you may contract some kind of infectious disease.

Recently have you had close contact with anyone who is sick, or especially from region with epidemic? You know, viruses can be spread when someone sneezes or coughs into the air around you.

Jun: One of my co-workers just came back from China. But as I know, he is still quite normal.

Nurse: You may be right. But for some people, they have stronger immunity system than others. We will have some more tests on you for the final result. Now please follow me this way.

Jun: Thank you!

Let's talk:

1. What should we do to protect ourselves from virus?
2. How to have a strong immune system do you think?
